

Names 'Insiders' as Grain Speculators

Urging a Senate committee to follow through on its search for government "insiders" who speculated in grain, Harold E. Stassen, 40-year-old presidential candidate, tells the committee that Edwin W. Pauley, special assistant to the secretary for Army, made $1,000,000 in the grain market, and that Brig.-Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the President's physician, and Ralph K. Davies, wartime deputy petroleum administrator, were among "about 11" government "insiders" who made $4,000,000 speculating since the war.

EISENHOWER VIRTUALLY 'IN' FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE SUPPORT

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Senator Tobey (R-NH) declared today "nobody" can stop a campaign to line up New Hampshire's eight votes for the Republican presidential nomination behind Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—"not even the General himself."

Tobey said he thinks Eisenhower is "a good chance" to win out in the "conventional" delegate battle with supporters of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen in New Hampshire's primary election March 9.

Seven of the first 17 to file for election as delegates yesterday were pledged for Eisenhower, two for Dewey and one for Stassen. The filing deadline is a month away.

Make Campaign Soon
Tobey told a reporter he may make some speeches in state for an Eisenhower slate of delegates. Among those who filed yesterday was the senator's son, Charles Tobey, Jr.

The senator, at the same time, was elected as a member of the board of directors of the Draft Eisenhower League, with headquarters in New York.

Eisenhower, all at home with a cold, made no comment on the developments, which projected him more forcefully than ever before into political discussions along with two other top ranking wartime military leaders.

Senator Chavez (D-NM) brought the name of Secretary State Marshall as chief of staff—into the political arena with the declaration yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10.—Three of the bandits who staged the biggest bank robbery in years were captured before the sun had set yesterday, but two others—described as "the brains of the outfit"—remain at large today with almost half the $114,000 loot.

Police Superintendent A. A. Waters said $65,000 was recovered after arrest of the three, leaving $49,000 in the hands of the two "brains."

In view of the remarkably clever handling of the robbery and in light of the daring arrogance of the missing bandits, officers said the pair might have climbed aboard an interurban bus, lugging in a suitcase their share of the haul.

One conspicuous kink was apparent in plans to capture the fleeing robbers: No one seemed certain what either of them wore, or what they look like.

Employees of the mid-city Hibernia National bank who were on the scene at the time of the holdup were told by the gunmen: "If you look at me I'll put a bullet in you."

Detective Chief Joseph Scheuring identified the men in jail as George W. Ricketts, 23, of Chalmette, La., his nephew, 21-year-old Tommie Ricketts, of New Orleans, John Hasenback, 23, also of New Orleans.

Scheuring said a suitcase packed with $35,000 was found in the house where the Ricketts were arrested, and that $30,000 was found in a paper bag in Hasenback's room.

Police said the latter had hidden the bag in a hole in the floor, then had pushed a heavy stove over the hole to conceal the small fortune in currency.

The robbery occurred in mid-morning and less than four hours later the Ricketts men and Hasenback were behind bars on charges of armed robbery.

The charge is punishable by death in Louisiana.

Murder Indictment Returned Against East Liverpool Man; Other Charges Varied

LISBON, Jan. 10.—The January grand jury late yesterday completed a heavy week's investigation of criminal matters, delving into 61 cases, examining 79 witnesses, and returning 44 indictments.

Eight cases were ignored, one referred to the juvenile court and six other cases were combined in other indictments.

The jurors completed the five-day session at 5:30 p.m. Friday by reporting before Judge Joel H. Sharp, who commended them for their diligence and excused them, subject to call later if necessary.

Foremost among the indictments returned was a second degree murder charge against John Henry Adams, 60, of East Liverpool, for the killing of Goldie Adams, 47, in the former's city dump shanty on Christmas day.

Also indicted was Theodore Holland of East Liverpool, on a charge of second degree manslaughter in the death of Dale Graebing, crushed under Holland's steel truck in an accident at the intersection of the old Y. & O. road and State Route 267 last Sept. 19.

Twenty-seven individuals were named in the indictments, two of which remain secret at this time, and in addition to the above include:

Earl Williams, Jr., East Liverpool, two indictments charging burglary and larceny at the Doughty store and Del Ray Bowling Center.

James Ishmael Tackett, Earl Williams, Jr., Carl L. Adams and Richard Coleman, East Liverpool, two indictments each charging burglary and larceny of the Doughty store and the Del Ray Bowling Center.

John Williams and Raymond Johnson, East Liverpool, each charged with auto theft.

Laverne R. Courran and Norman Corrie, East Liverpool, burglary and larceny two counts each, at the Charles King service station and the Washington school.

Norman Corrie and Elyman Courtwright, East Liverpool, two indictments each.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY COMMISSIONERS AGREE TO Re-submit Bonds

LISBON, Jan. 10.—Columbiana county commissioners on Friday unanimously agreed to re-submit the county jail bond issue at the earliest possible date in view of recent developments with regard to the boarding of this county's prisoners in the Mahoning jail at Youngstown.

Clarence L. Robinson, president of the commissioners, announced that the $230,000 bond issue for construction of a county prison will be submitted to the voters as soon as it is legally possible, with the possibility of the issue being placed on the ballot at the primary election in May.

"We hope the voters of this county will realize the gravity of the situation with which we are faced," Robinson stated, "in view of the possibility of having to remove our prisoners from the Mahoning county jail in the near future when remodeling of that prison begins."

Transferring the prisoners to another county such as Stark or Jefferson, if arrangements could be made, would be an even greater inconvenience and hardship on the sheriff's department, and probabilities are rates for boarding would be even higher, he pointed out.

New Contract Signed
The commissioners yesterday signed a new contract submitted by the Mahoning county commissioners for the boarding of prisoners at Youngstown at a rate increased from 60 cents to $1.25 per day, which becomes effective Feb. 15.

The grand jury, in its report to the court yesterday, echoed sentiments of every grand jury in the past seven years in stating: "We are all agreed that we need a new jail to take care of our prisoners."

"We cite the fact that 10 to 15 thousand miles of driving by the sheriff's office was required in transporting prisoners to and from Youngstown during 1947; also the fact that Mahoning county has recently notified the Columbiana county commissioners that the expense of keeping each prisoner per day will be increased from 60 cents to $1.25. In addition, there is the ever present possibility that Mahoning county, due to the need for the full capacity of their own jail may be forced to refuse the detention of our county's prisoners."

"Due to the conditions under which the Mahoning county sheriff has to work, the jail was in fair condition. In our opinion the jail needs a lot of repairs, also more light."

Object To Courses, Chapel

Catholics Withdrawing From Baldwin-Wallace
(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Jan. 10.—Some 155 Catholic students at Baldwin-Wallace college will meet tomorrow night to determine whether they will follow in the footsteps of eight other undergraduate Catholics, who have resigned from B-W in objection to a required course in religion.

President Louis C. Wright of the nearby Berea college announced withdrawal of the eight students from the Methodist institution last night, and said the Catholics also objected to required attendance at chapel programs.

East Palestine Youth Quits
Among the resigning students were Brian McCall, of East Palestine, O., basketball forward who indicated he had played his "last game" with B-W against Toledo university here last night, and Track Star Norb Badar, Ohio Conference low hurdles champion.

Informing a student on the class in religion, Msgr. Vincent B. Balmat, chancellor of the Cleveland Catholic diocese, declared: "A Catholic may not under any circumstance or pretext attend a class of this kind."

Dr. Wright replied in a statement "if the authorities of the Catholic church feel obliged to dictate to students who are members of that church, the college raises no objection. Its trustees' administration and faculty will continue to encourage the free search for truth, genuine scholarship and personal religion."

"The college authorities will be exceedingly sorry for any Catholic students who are forced to withdraw," Dr. Wright continued. "The college remains open to them."

The B-W president reported there had been no discrimination on the Berea campus, and said the college had "recently been criticized in certain Methodist circles for admitting so many Catholic students while turning down Methodist and other Protestant students whose grades were somewhat inferior."

"There has been no change in required chapel programs and courses in religion for 100 years," he concluded. "This is stated in the college catalogue, and each student has this information upon entering college. Chapel programs have never been sectarian."

Msgr. Balmat elaborated his opinion on the required course by declaring: "This study of religion denies or makes light of many of the fundamental doctrines of faith; it teaches positive error; it tends toward agnosticism and destroys all objective standards of belief and conduct."

"Regardless, therefore, of the motive or mental reservation of the Catholic student who attends this class, he cannot be justified in so doing."

RAILROAD WORKER IS KILLED IN FALL

Fred J. Linder, Leetonia, Dies After Accident Here Last Night

Fred John Linder, 46, of Spring st., Leetonia, a Pennsylvania railroad freight conductor, was injured fatally in a yard accident near the Mullins No. 1 plant at about 8 p. m. Friday.

Linder, found lying alongside the tracks by fellow employees, died in Salem City hospital at 1:37 a. m. today as the result of a fractured skull.

Railroad officials, who are continuing their investigation of the mishap, said no one actually saw Linder fall from the boxcar on which he was riding. When last seen he had started to climb toward the top of the car.

Other crew men of the shifter engine carried the victim to the emergency room of the Mullins plant where Stark's ambulance was called to rush him to the hospital.

Linder, a native of Wellsville, where he was born July 9, 1901, had been employed by the Pennsylvania railroad for 25 years. He had worked here only three months.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret; one son, Harold Linder of Wellsville; his mother, Mrs. Mary Snyder of Wellsville; two half-brothers, Stewart and Harry Snyder, and two half-sisters, Gertrude Snyder and Mrs. Dallas Sproule, all of Wellsville.

POINT SHOWN IN DOUGLAS INTERVIEW

Reports That $2,800,000 Will Come Back to U. S. In First 15 Months

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Ambassador Lewis Douglas told senators today the United States may recover through loan repayments up to $2,800,000,000 of the $6,800,000,000 proposed for the first 15 months' operation of the European recovery program.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) brought this out in a series of questions as Douglas continued testimony before the senate foreign relations committee on the proposed four-year program known as the Marshall plan.

Vandenberg recalled earlier testimony of state department officials and asked Douglas whether it is true that eventual cost to the United States might "ultimately be reduced" by $1,300,000,000 to $2,800,000,000 through recovery on loans expected to be repaid under the plan.

"That is correct," Douglas assured Vandenberg.

State department officials have estimated that from 20 to 40 percent of any recovery funds advanced will be in the form of loans that may be repaid. The balance of 60 to 80 percent would be in the form of grants that would not be repaid.

Vandenberg put it this way: "If a low of 20 percent is repaid the ultimate cost to the treasury would be $5,500,000,000 while if 40 percent comes back the actual $6,800,000,000 initial cost would drop to $4,400,000,000."

Vandenberg then asked what will determine whether aid is extended in the form of a loan or a grant.

He said if congress should decide the nation will determine the ability of the recipient nation to repay. He said advances for capital goods and equipment will be repaid if the nation is able to do so.

Both the amount of money required and the way the state department wants the program run have been under powerful criticism in the senate. Vandenberg previously has complained that the administration has failed to suggest a business-like operating system in which the American people have confidence.

Without that "you are sunk without a trace," he added.

Senator George (D-Ga.), ranking Democrat on the committee and its former chairman, objected to any "all or nothing" stand by the state department on the request for funds to get the program under way.

He said if congress should decide to cut the initial appropriation to an even $6,000,000,000, for instance, "I don't think it would matter."

Make Feeling Known
The two senators made their feelings known late yesterday during testimony in favor of the administration plan by Lewis W. Douglas, ambassador to England. Douglas was recalled for further questioning today with Secretary of Commerce Harriman scheduled as next witness.

Vandenberg's comment yesterday came when Douglas was explaining how the big program would be entrusted to a new special agency operating under "direction and control" of the state department.

Vandenberg remarked that many Americans "have a feeling that the administration of foreign grants in aid since the war has been pretty sterile of results."

He said the Marshall plan needs a "new element of business operation" which is "lacking in the bill you submitted."

LAUSCHE TALK RISES AGAIN

Miller Talk Ignores Ohio Politics; Lausche Bid Expected Today

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 10—The Ohio political season's most persistent rumor popped up again last night as Democrats held a rally which provided gubernatorial candidate Ray T. Miller of Cleveland an opportunity for his first major campaign speech.

A Democrat reportedly close to former Governor Frank J. Lausche told a Democrat not so close to Lausche, who told a newspaperman, that Lausche will announce his candidacy for party nomination to his old job at noon. Lausche had been expected by some political observers to announce at a dinner two days ago.

Lausche Supporters Present
The apparent fact Lausche Democrats were among the 110 party members who gathered in Cambridge for the rally didn't draw Miller into discussion of party politics within the state.

The Cleveland leveled his sights at Communism, asserting "the natural rights of man and the political philosophy supporting these" is challenged on a world front by Communism.

The spread of Communism, said Miller, is "aimed at the destruction of the natural rights of man and summoning man into slavery as a mere creature of the state."

"I think we now well understand that 'dictatorship of the proletariat' does not mean that the common people shall lead—it means, rather, that they shall be led as serfs by self-appointed masters, and that all who challenge the absolute sovereignty of such masters will be purged."

The nation, he emphasized, should be aroused as never before to a re-examination of and a re-dedication to the principles and the political philosophy that is our glorious inheritance.

U. S.-Britain Offer Germans Their Own Government

With formation of central government for western Germany, present Economic Council gets new powers to enforce decisions welding eight German states into economic and political unity. Move is expected to end labor trouble in Ruhr, where 16,000 are on strike and in Hamburg, where 5000 dockhands are idle.

Eighty per cent of exports from Soviet Zone last year went to western and northern Europe. In future, they will be shipped into areas controlled by Russia.

U. S. and Britain will seek to bring French Zone into new setup. This will create a central "Trizonia" government for 95,800 square miles of Germany with population of 45,397,600 people.

Offering Germans their first central government since Adolf Hitler's suicide on April 30, 1945, the U. S. and Britain gave presidents of eight German states within the Anglo-U. S. occupation zone, a plan for their own two-house legislature, high court and central bank. Highlighting the split between east and west, the move would isolate Russia's "Iron Curtain" eastern zone. Map shows the eight German states over which the new German government would have authority under the existing bi-zonal Economic Council. Frankfurt would be the provisional capital of western Germany until the whole country is unified.

Newell Youth Dies From Fall Off Bike

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 10—Charles Edwin Parsons, nine, of Newell, W. Va., was killed Thursday about 6:30 p. m. when he fell from a companion's bicycle while riding near his home.

Squire John W. Talbott, acting Hancock county coroner, gave a verdict of "accidental death."

He said the youth died from a broken neck.

Young Parsons had been playing with a school chum, Shirl Atkins. Atkins lent young Parsons the bicycle to ride around the block while he carried the victim's toy gun to the postoffice.

The boys separated and a few minutes later a motorist, Mrs. Eula Fulton, also of Newell, saw the youth lying in the road.

Squire Talbott said he believed the boy struck a hole in the street while riding and was thrown to the pavement. There were no other marks on his body.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parsons, and a sister, Joyce Marie, at home.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Newell Nazarene church. Burial will be in Columbi-ana County Memorial park here.

Cadillac

RECOGNITION

The genius of the automotive industry is famed the world over. To be universally recognized as the undisputed leader in such an industry is recognition of the highest order. And to have held that position for almost half a century is an honor well-nigh without parallel. It gives Cadillac both a deep sense of pride and a deep sense of responsibility to reflect that it has been so long — "the Standard of the World."

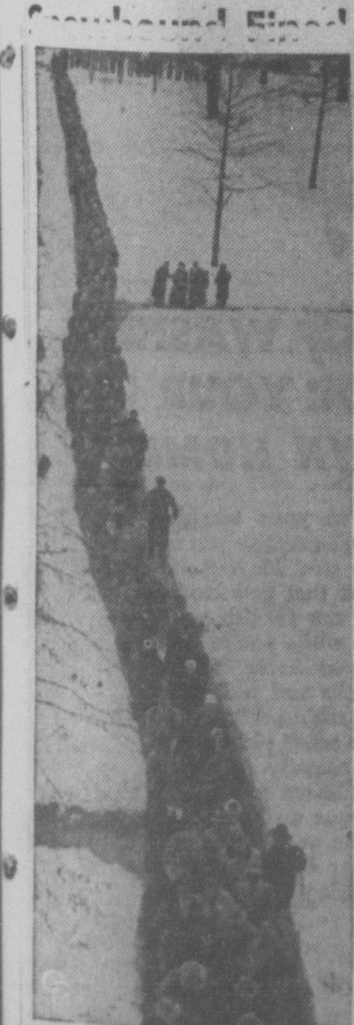

If you are waiting for a new Cadillac—please be assured that every effort is being made to further production. Demand is so great, however, that some delay in delivery is still inevitable. But hold to your purpose! There is no substitute for a Cadillac.

PARTITION MOVE PLANNED

U. N. Group To Visit Holy Land; Leader May Be "Big Wig"

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 10. — The United Nations' Palestine partition commission today faced the pressing problem of when it should enter the turbulent Holy Land and what it should do about measures to enforce its decisions.

Arabs, to emphasize their opposition to partition, are boycotting the commission.

New Outbursts Reported
Meeting in the wake of new outbursts of Arab-Jewish violence in Palestine, the five-nation group hoped to draft a tentative program for entry into the Holy Land subject to consultations with the British on their date of withdrawal.

Present indications are the commission will leave here some time between the first week in February and mid-March. Plans included a stop in London for conferences with high British officials, the length of the trip depending on how far the U. N. progresses in talks with the British delegation here.

The General Assembly resolution providing for partition of Palestine into Jewish and Arab countries calls for the end of British rule by Aug. 1 and independence for the two nations by Oct. 1.

The British since have said unofficially they would be ready to get out May 15. A final agreement on these dates will be a major factor in selecting the date for the commission to go into Palestine.

The U. N. meanwhile went ahead with plans for its staff to accompany the commission. George Barnes, director of the U. N. press division, was named public relations officer for the group.

Announcement still was being withheld on a plan to head the secretariat party but it was reported that either Secretary-General Trygve Lie himself or Assistant Secretary-General Arkady Sobolev of Russia would accompany the group.

Lie or Sobolev would be expected to remain only a short time, but would lend prestige and weight to the group as it entered the trouble scene.

He left there in 1946 for missionary work in Panama.

Rev. C. D. Plummer of Columbus, Ind., will begin a two-week revival meeting at the Nazarene church, beginning Sunday and continuing through Jan. 25.

Train Overtakes, Injuring 10 People

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—The locomotive of a four-coach Providence to Boston passenger train overturned at Back Bay station today, pitching about 63 passengers from their seats and sending 10 to hospitals, one of them an engineer who was trapped in his cab.

Many passengers became hysterical but were treated at the scene. Firemen used acetylene torches to free an inspecting engineer, John L. Morehead, who was reported at City hospital to have burns on the wrists and bruises of the head and face.

City hospital reported nine patients but said "most of them are to be discharged."

Massachusetts General hospital reported one victim, discharged after treatment for a cut on the left arm.

First reports from the New Haven railroad said 63 persons were hurt but a check showed only 10 were hospitalized.

Second Guessing

By DON E. BEATTIE

DEPARTMENT OF MUSING

It's a hard proposition to have to eat one's own words, but in the sportswriting department it doesn't pay to feel too reluctant to do so. For the chore becomes a rather regular procedure.

It was put down here several days ago that Salem's Quakers would be just "another ball club" without Bob Payer. After last night's victory at East Liverpool, we're not so sure that is an accurate estimate of Bob Miller's basketball team.

For last night Payer was about as close to not being around as he will ever be and still be in the game. The only actual offensive use he served last night was to simply remain in the game as a threat.

Without deference to the big boy, who is certainly one of the state's best high school players, it can be set down that Coach Miller was exceptionally wise in not trying to score through Payer at Liverpool.

It was that fact—we are convinced—together with the unusual "defensive-offense" Miller used, that won for Salem.

The most pleasant aspects of the entire evening—barring the first Salem victory over Liverpool on record in the Memorial gym—were the shows given by Eddie Bozich and Pete Cain.

Both have been playing regularly in Quaker games. But they have been the "hard-luck" guys who haven't hit good nights and who haven't been sensational either in point-getting or defensive acts.

The two played their hearts out. Bozich, always quick as a lizard, completely astounded East Liverpool and its fandom. He was the topic of the after-game talk, even over and above the fact that Payer was stopped.

Actually Payer wasn't stopped. Salem didn't try to get its points through the big boy, a fact Liverpool partially failed to realize.

And that, again, is the beautiful part of having Payer on the team. He can be turned on or off—according to the coach's wishes—and yet the threat of his powers is still in force.

He was "turned off" last night, but Liverpool either didn't see it, or if they did, they were afraid to "turn off" their defense against him.

It's just a guess, but had they weakened their defense against Payer and concentrated more on all-around defense, they probably would have won.

For Bob wasn't himself last night. Two days in bed with the flu takes something out of a guy—and it showed to those who know Payer.

ODDS AND ENDS

The crowd at the Memorial gymnasium last night was the largest of the season for East Liverpool. The Quakers are still drawing everywhere they go. Bob Miller reminded his charges at the half that they were 11 points ahead of Liverpool three seasons ago—and lost. He also reminded them of the loss there last year. One that spoiled a perfect regular season.

The fans, no matter where you are, remain about the same. One Potter fan was heard to remark after the game, "Our boys could have won that game if they had had a coach." Oh, well, that's not a new thought anywhere.

All coaches are "dummies" when they lose. Another Potter fan said "Salem won't go anywhere in a tournament, they just don't have it." Maybe not, but does anyone else around here think this year?

It looked like old time basketball last night. Everything was slow-break, methodical and on a "don't shoot till you see the whites of their eyes" basis. The score sounds that way, too. Look for a full house when those two teams get together at South field house on Thursday, Jan. 29.

The Poters aren't convinced they're inferior, yet, Buddy.

Middie Defense Explained By Coach Walker's Terms

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10.—Bits of Buckeye basketball banter. Remember last March, when Coach Paul Walker brought his Middletown eagles to the state tournament and walked away with the Class A crown? One and all were intrigued no end by the unorthodox defense tossed up by the Middies, and asked Walker to define the bulwark.

"We use a transitional stratified man-for-man with a zone principle," was Paul's answer—which left the assembled scribblers so tongue-tied that none had a further question.

But Paul Day, erudite sports editor of the Middletown Journal—and first of the Buckeye writers to go to war—says Walker cleared the whole thing up the other day for the quarterback club.

Walker explained the defense to the stunned club members like this:

"Transitional means moving, or shifting, and 'stratified' means by 'layers.' So we had a shifting defense operating in layers of defense, which actually was a man-for-man that looked like a zone."

Simple, isn't it?

Just before the Christmas holidays Denison university's basketball team was subjected to a series of boos and cat-calls-plus a one-sided defeat—in a game at Capital university, after it was over the Capital student body felt it had not treated its guests with the courtesy they deserved so now the Denison will receive an apology from the Capitals.

The student council voted unanimously to apologize—certainly a handsome gesture and a step in the right direction in keeping athletic relations on a high plane.

Joe Halberstein, sports editor of The Lima News, was sitting at the scorer's table the other night, watching Van Wert and Lima South in a basketball game.

At the end of two minutes Van Wert led 1 to 0, and the guy on the loud speaker announced someone's car was blocking the street outside and "would he please remove it?" He read the car's license number and Joe recognized it. He should have, for it was his own.

Halberstein got up from the table, fought his way through the crowd to the door, was forced to drive around the block to find a new parking space, walked back to the gym, battled through the crowd to the scorer's table, and looked anxiously at the clock. He had been gone seven minutes. Then he looked at the scoreboard.

The score was 1-0.

Van Wert 1, Lima South 0, and Joe hadn't missed a thing.

(Van Wert finally won it, 24-23, after being tied 2-2 at the quarter and leading 8-7 at the half.)

NCAA VOTING ON SANITY CODE DUE AT MEETING TODAY

No Serious Opposition To Be Put Before New Rule Today, Reports Show

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Saving its chief business until the end, delegates to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's annual convention met in a final session today for a showdown vote on the proposed "sanity code" to curb the proselytizing of athletes.

Sponsors of the code were confident it would receive the required two-thirds majority to pass.

"Surprisingly little opposition has come to our attention," said Dr. Karl E. Leeb of the University of Iowa, president of the N. C. A. A. "There may be a fight on one or two of the points but the wording of the original code has been modified to a point that apparently is agreeable to almost everyone."

Except for routine business, the vote on the sanity code was the last major step in the week-long series of meetings involving the N. C. A. A. and its affiliated groups of baseball, track, boxing and football coaches.

The coaches wound up yesterday and by last night most of them had checked out for home, leaving plenty of elbow room in the hotel lobby in which they had been milling around all week.

The lobby was a great shopping ground for football coaches on the prowl for new jobs but little business was reported.

Dr. O. R. Hommer, chairman of the athletic council at West Virginia, said he had interviewed "a long list of coaches and have more interviews scheduled when I get back home." He declined to name the men he had under consideration as successor to Bill Kern, who resigned last fall.

Howell Zell of Yale still was said to be the top choice for the job at the University of Washington.

Resignation of Dick Harlow as coach at Harvard threw open another good job but the coaches had dispersed before they had an opportunity to put in bids.

The proposed sanity code represents the first attempt of the N. C. A. A. to become a governing body in athletics instead of an advisory group. Suspension or expulsion is provided as a penalty for any school that fails to live up to the code and if the penalty is invoked that school cannot be scheduled by N. C. A. A. members.

Of the five points in the code only the principles governing financial aid and recruiting were expected to meet opposition.

Athletic scholarships would be abolished. The only aid an athlete can receive would be from the same group which dispenses aid to all other students, based on scholarship.

As for recruiting, the most objectionable phrase has been removed since the code was adopted in principle last year. That phrase prohibited members of schools athletic staff from talking to a prospective student beyond the boundaries of its own campus. No such restrictions now are placed, although the "interviewing" of athletes still must be free of financial talk.

Consequently the Quakers just didn't attempt to reach Bob with the oval and took good advantage of the wide open spaces left vacant in the back and side courts by the Potter defense.

To illustrate the point, Payer only shot seven times—far under his usual quota. (He made three of those, at that). Bozich tried 20 times. Tommy Miner—who hasn't hit a point since he began using his contact lenses—shot nine. Carl Ciccozzi, who only played one quarter, tossed six and Kelly and Cain each shot five times.

That illustrates as well as anything what Miller had in mind. His offense was actually his defense, for he set his men up on an offense, in a diamond-like diagram, primarily to halt the Potter fast break, which materializes from the opponents' rebounds.

Everytime the Poters attempted to fast break they found a couple of Salem men starting down their throats before they could take off. It was a superb defense and a credit to Miller's diagnostic ability.

Actually, although Salem was never headed nor tied, the game was breath-taking all the way. For both teams, from the first tip-off, operated slowly and mechanically, like a pair of veteran boxers "feeling out" the foe.

The "feeling out" never ended until the game ended, however, for the Potter fast break never broke home and Salem never tried to utilize Payer to his fullest scoring talent.

The tempo was consequently set by both teams rather than any one outfit taking the initiative.

Salem jumped into a 5-0 lead at the start, Ciccozzi, Virge Kelly and Payer hitting. Payer's second basket, and both were spectacular, put the Quakers out front 7-2 before Frankie Chan made it 7-4 and Jack Betts hit to make it 7-6.

Then Bozich hit at a crucial point from far out, making it 9-6. A beautiful pivot by Ed Vocila, a sweet floor man, brought the Poters up to a 9-8 edge. Bozich again clicked, saving the day for a few minutes, and the Quarter closed 11-8.

As the second frame degenerated into a game of "catch" for both teams, only seven Payers were scored in all. Payer, Ciccozzi and

Diminutive Ed Racks Up 13 Points, Hits As Chips Are Down In 31-25 Victory

By DON E. BEATTIE

Little Eddie Bozich, the guy who's been waiting a long time for his day, glittered like an emerald Friday as he led his Quaker mates to a tight defensive victory 31-25 over the East Liverpool Poters at the spacious Memorial gymnasium before 1,800 cage-mad fans.

Eddie was scintillation personified. He not only dumped through 13 points in masterful style, but he bore his scepter well with a thrillingly beautiful defensive game and an all-important skill at clicking when the chips were really down.

The victory, which saw Salem lead all the way, was the Quakers' sixth straight in scholastic play and the loss was Liverpool's fourth in eight games.

Only enough, excluding the Poters' desire to win, both teams achieved what the defensive strategies of the two coaches apparently were geared to accomplish. East Liverpool stopped Bib Bob Payer almost cold—holding him to his lowest total in three years—and Salem, in turn, did what it intended to do in halting the Potter fast break.

It was Payer that Merrill Hall feared most and it was the Hall fast break that Bob Miller feared most.

Bozich didn't win the game single-handedly. He had excellent defensive aid from all five of his mates in the fray, especially from Pete Cain under the hoops.

But it was Bozich the long-shot artist, the demon on defense, the key-ball handler throughout the first half and the clinch breaker, who broke East Liverpool's back.

Eddie caged six baskets—almost half of Salem's floor scoring—and five of the baskets were accomplished from well out in the back side courts. The Poters sacrificed defensive power at Eddie's position to fence in Payer but Ed came through from far out.

He hit six baskets in 20 shots, and the encouraging thing was that he was shooting when he should have been. He didn't pass up a single good shot last night.

Cain was tremendous, especially in the second half. His bounding about the boards and his tight defensive play was his best effort yet and it accounted for a lot of Salem's victory chance last night.

As for Payer—who scored seven, his lowest total this year and since he was a Freshman—it was simply a case of not using the big boy when it was smart not to use him.

Miller strategy paid off there, for Payer wasn't the target for Salem points last night. Besides being somewhat weakened by his illness this week, the tall one was a marked man and the Potter fast break apparently was supposed to start from pass interceptions meant for Big Bob.

Consequently the Quakers just didn't attempt to reach Bob with the oval and took good advantage of the wide open spaces left vacant in the back and side courts by the Potter defense.

To illustrate the point, Payer only shot seven times—far under his usual quota. (He made three of those, at that). Bozich tried 20 times. Tommy Miner—who hasn't hit a point since he began using his contact lenses—shot nine. Carl Ciccozzi, who only played one quarter, tossed six and Kelly and Cain each shot five times.

That illustrates as well as anything what Miller had in mind. His offense was actually his defense, for he set his men up on an offense, in a diamond-like diagram, primarily to halt the Potter fast break, which materializes from the opponents' rebounds.

Clippers Sizzle In Final For 49-36 Win Over Lisbon

Columbiana left little to be desired as they registered a 49-36 victory over Lisbon's Blue Devils in a Tri-County league fray at Columbiana before a screaming full house.

And it was in the final frame that the Clipper five hit its offensive peak, dumping in 21 points to lift for Lisbon to pull away in a game that had been nip and tuck all the way.

Lisbon, coached by Handsome Jack Mills, led 8-5 at the quarter and was still in front until seconds before the half. Columbiana edged to the front 19-18, however, as the half closed.

The scoring was 9-8, Columbiana in the third and the Clippers seemed headed for woes with but a 28-26 bulge as the finals started. But things caught fire for the Jack Cramb coached outfit and it was all over for Lisbon.

Scoring was evenly divided with Howard Gustafson and Bud McBride doing the Clipper honors. Tommy Ashton topped Lisbon's scoring.

GRAND JURY

Named In Burglaries

James Wilfred Straley, East Palestine, burglary and larceny of the Eagles' lodge in East Palestine, and jointly indicted on three other counts of burglary and larceny with James Edward Naughton, also of East Palestine, committed at the V. F. W. home on two occasions and at the Eagles' lodge. The pair were also indicted on a burglary count at the Veterans of Foreign Wars club last Nov. 11th.

Naughton was indicted individually on four counts of burglary and larceny at the Sinclair and Fossough service stations, the Whitehouse station and Hart body shop, and one indictment of burglary of the East Palestine Moose lodge.

Charles Knight and Earl Booher of New Waterford were jointly indicted for burglary and larceny of the Costanzo cafe in that village, and also jointly charged with arson in connection with the fire following the burglary.

Elmer E. Parnsworth of East Palestine, was indicted on seven counts of forgery; William G. Low, Youngstown, four counts of issuing fraudulent checks; Forrest Coen, East Liverpool, forgery; Herman Donahue, Wellsville, shooting with intent to kill; and Carl Barton, East Liverpool, rape with consent, two counts.

What Shoes to Fill!

Newest member of Chicago's Engine Company No. 22 is Spike, a seven-week-old fox terrier. He's following in the footsteps of the fire company's old mascot, Duke, who was killed by an automobile. Spike will probably find Duke's shoes easier to fill than the firemen's boots in the background.

Rules Newsboys Not Eligible For Unions

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—The Taft-Hartley labor law was interpreted today as banning newsboys' unions.

A superior court ruling, in conflict with a U. S. supreme court decision handed down before the law was passed, said that news vendors are independent contractors and not employees of newspapers.

"Under present labor-management laws, newsboys cannot organize," Judge Clarence M. Hanson said in granting a preliminary injunction against Newsvendors' Local 75 (CIO).

He based his ruling on a senate report on the intent of the new law which specifically mentioned newsboys as independent contractors. The law itself does not mention them.

"Inasmuch as they are not employees but independent contractors, they are not entitled to bring economic pressure on any publishers to prevent the supply of papers to any vendor," he ruled.

The injunction was granted Newsboy Milton Newman who charged the union ran him off the downtown corner where he had sold papers for 20 years. Newman charged the union threatened to strike if publishers allowed him to sell their papers.

Farmer Killed

ASHTABULA, Jan. 10.—An automobile collision at nearby Dorset yesterday fatally injured Earl Walker, 61, a farmer of Lemox.

Baldness Causes

Dandruff is the most common cause of baldness, but tight hat bands, which impede blood circulation, and impurities in industrial surroundings are other causes.

Earliest legislation in Illinois on the trespassing of animals was passed in 1819.

FREEZE AMMUNITION SUPPLIES IN N. YORK

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Jan. 10.—All undelivered orders of surplus Army explosives were frozen today by the New York region of the war assets administration after New Jersey and New York state police had confiscated from 126 to 135 tons of explosives which they said had been gathered by Zionists for illegal shipment to Palestine.

Police said the remainder of a 199-ton consignment of explosives still was missing.
Three trucks containing 67 tons of highly-explosive cyclonic blocks were seized yesterday in Ulster County, N. Y. This seizure followed discovery of a cache of 59 tons of explosives in a warehouse here and in a farmhouse in nearby Wall township Thursday night and yesterday.

Some 5,200 combat knives originally made for the U. S. Navy and a quantity of first-aid kits also were found in the warehouse.
The freeze order was described by John R. Campbell, WAA regional director, as a "precautionary measure" against "any possible illegal handling of explosives, in cooperation with the normal police powers of local and federal governments."

The uncertainty in the exact number of tons seized arose when state police and Monmouth County Prosecutor J. Victor Carton placed the total confiscated here at 59 tons and Navy public relations authorities said the batch weighed 68 tons when it was unloaded at the Earle ammunition depot in Leonardo for safe-keeping.

In New York last night, the Arab higher committee at the United Nations issued a statement urging that Federal Bureau of Investigation "make a thorough investigation of all Jewish and Zionist organizations in the United States which are raising funds to buy arms and ammunition and which are supporting the Nagana and Irqun, the Zionist terrorist groups."

WILL MAKE CHECK AGAIN ON PAULEY

Stassen Testimony Brings Issue More Clearly To Congressional Set

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today his senate committee investigating commodity speculation wants to know more about conversations Edwin W. Pauley had with two cabinet members about the time he completed a profitable market deal last August.

The committee probably will call Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Robert E. Hannegan, until recently postmaster general and head of the Democratic national committee, to tell of their talks with Pauley at his Hawaiian estate, Ferguson told a reporter.

He said no date has been set for reopening the Pauley angle.

Harold E. Stassen, the former governor of Minnesota now campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, told Ferguson's appropriations subcommittee yesterday that administration insiders—including Pauley—have been in the markets to the extent of about $20,000,000 and have profited by approximately $4,000,000 since the end of the war. He said Pauley alone made $1,000,000.
